APEC'S 10TH ANNIVERSARY

A Decade of Excellence

WRITTEN BY: AMEDEE AGUIRRE

September 2023 marks the 10th anniversary of APEC Schools. With the recent merger with National Teachers' College (NTC), NTC and APEC Schools celebrated their anniversary by creating fun activities and competitions. Numerous activities were held all throughout September. They were the Power Dance, Battle of the Bands, Basketball, Volleyball, and APEC Ambassador & Ambassadress.

Most of the activities and competitions were won by NTC. However, notable recognitions received by the APEC team include the following:

APEC New Manila
2nd Place Power Dance

APEC Kalumpang
Champion Battle of the Bands
(Monobloc)

APEC Ortigas Extension
APEC Ambassador
(Prince Tungcul)

APEC Sta. Rita
APEC Ambassadress
(Amunra Botardo)

To feel the Foundation Day spirit in APEC New Manila, the student council and batch representatives organized a gratitude wall and a wishing well for students to participate in.

A word play on the words "wishing wall," the student council and batch representatives built an improvised wishing well where students can write what they want to happen this school year for a better NTC-APEC community and drop their wishes in the well. They also dressed up as fairies, elves, and other mythical creatures that grant wishes to go with the theme of the wishing well. Students commonly wished for better grades, fruitful friendships, and more events this school year.

Beside the wishing well are 2 sets of the gratitude wall. Students were to list down the things they are grateful for. Most of the entries stated they are grateful for helpful classmates, schoolmates, and staff, their families, and how they still manage to do their tasks despite their numerous responsibilities.

The LFs then installed an exhibit showcasing the events from 2013 up until 2023, from APEC's humble beginnings to what APEC is today. Photos highlighting the first few branches of APEC, visitations by Ayala and Pearson, and notable meetings were featured up until 2015. Then from 2016 to 2023, photos featuring the start of the operation of the New Manila, extra-curricular events, to awards and projects done outside the school were proudly shown.

APEC Schools New Manila won first place for the exhibit.

Orientation Week!

SCHOOL YEAR 2023 - 2024

WRITTEN BY: AMEDEE AGUIRRE

On August 14, 2023, a new era dawns, with opportunities for growth, enjoyment, and learning. Welcome to APEC Schools New Manila; it's been waiting for you!

Orientation week at APEC Schools New Manila started on August 14, 2023, and ended on August 17, 2023. This event provided students with a valuable chance to forge new friendships, acquaint themselves with the APEC Staff, and explore their passions and interests. General information about APEC Schools, services offered, academic guidelines, and modality information were discussed with students by their class advisers. The class advisers also facilitated engaging icebreaker activities to foster a deeper connection among students. Students were also encouraged to register for the clubs of their choice, enabling them to engage in activities they are passionate about.

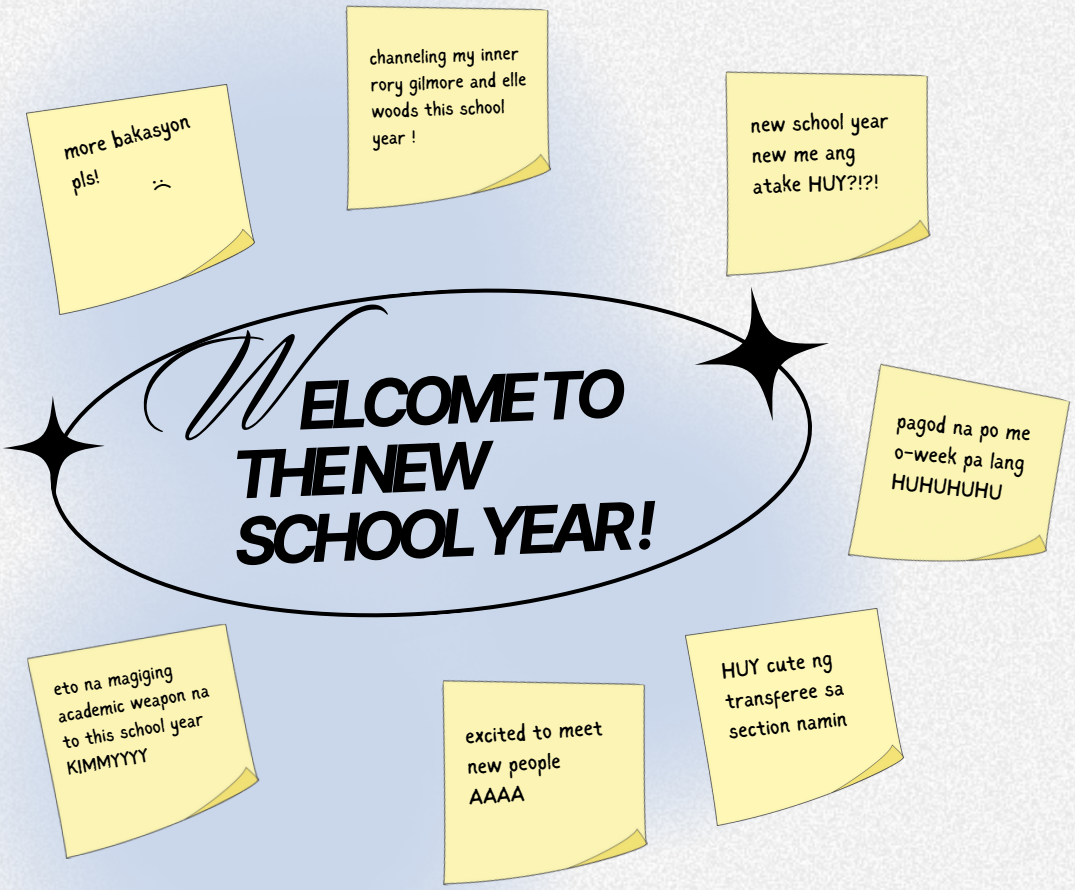

The Student Council added a touch of excitement to the orientation week by introducing creative gimmicks, one of which was the "Wear Your Status" event held on August 16, 2023. Students were able to express their feelings and emotions by assigning meanings to a variety of shirt colors:

To further include our pupils and motivate them to express their opinions, the student council also put up a “What’s on Your Mind Wall.” The wall provided an opportunity for students to share their thoughts about the first few days of school and what they wished to happen for this school year. Most of the entries are mixed: some want to have more vacation days, while others are excited to learn and make new friends.

As this new school year unfolds, we are excited to follow every one of you on your incredible experiences and accomplishments at APEC Schools New Manila. Welcome once again to APEC Schools New Manila, where we strive to be #BetterEachDay!

ARAW NG WIKA

WRITTEN BY: TROY SANDI

Araw ng Wika, an event that is held every August, showcases various cultures here in the Philippines. It is variously known as the Buwan ng Wika or Linggo ng Wika, and is usually held in various schools. Having this event not only shows the culture of natives, or katutubo here in the Philippines but also everything that is about them. Here at APEC Schools - New Manila, this type of event can't be missed, and we do it as a class in different sections for each grade level student. This is the type of learning event where in not only the students learn more about the cultures and various things for each katutubo but also helps them in different fields of skills such as group task, creativity, critical thinking and more. Learning and having fun in terms of even and eating along with the class helps develop the class all together in terms of getting to know each other and development of social skills especially since the month of August here in Apec began the official start of f2f classes, so with the help of having this type of events this type of events in really brings each class closer other especially among the new students or transfer students either from other branches of APEC Schools or other schools.

With an event as wonderful as this, what better way for it to be shown than by looking at pictures of the event itself that happened this August. These pictures, taken from each grade level and sections, show the creativity of the students and represent the culture through games, food, talents, attire, and more. In every Araw ng Wika, there will always be a Lakan and a Lakambini which represent each class, and these wonderful attires worn to be showcased, which not only shows the competitive side but also the work of art of it.

LEARNING FACILITATOR APPRECIATION WEEK

WRITTEN BY: KATCHEL OCAMPO

October 5, 2023 — The new academic year started in APEC New Manila. This also includes that we will celebrate a very special event which is Teachers Day once again. But APEC Schools have their own unique way of celebrating it, we don't only celebrate it in one day but in a week. LF Appreciation Week is dedicated to expressing gratitude and appreciation to all of our beloved learning facilitators.

In the week where it is held, we have an activity called Mini Miss and Mini Sir. This activity was organized by the Student Council of APEC New Manila where the participants for this activity will be the ones teaching and supervising the LF's to give them time to rest since it's their week. Every Learning Facilitator has its own student LF for their shift.

Here are the participants for Student LF's, for AM Shift we have Heleina Rizel Cuaresma, Arianne Joyce Castro, Antoniette Datu, Jacob Cedrick Tuico, Jaycob Zander Marcelo, Albrei Samantha Santos, Irish Barcelona, Tristan Pagaringan and Zarieal Mante.

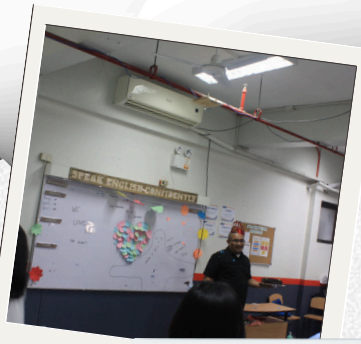

For PM Shift participants for Student LF's include Japeth Bagasbas, Jessica Gumatay, Cesmin Valmonte, Elizabeth Joice Canlas, Yeeshia Coronel, Amedee Aguirre, Seth Taniujara, and lastly, Leona De Chavez.

These students are able to participate and fulfill their responsibilities as student LF's. Their efforts and hard work in leading a class are highly appreciated. On October, 11. 2023, they are given a certificate of participation as an appreciation for volunteering for this activity.

Of course, our appreciation for our LF's doesn't stop there. At the end of the day, each classroom here in APEC New Manila prepared a very special surprise for their own advisers. They prepared messages for them and they performed a jamming session to thank their advisers.

It's been a wonderful moment to be able to see and witness this moment as we saw them laugh and cry with happy tears for our efforts. We'll always appreciate every moment that we create through the day that we are all together with our LF's. Their dedication and passion for teaching inspire us to learn and be better each day.

A TRIP TO TRINITY UNIVERSITY OF ASIA

WRITTEN BY: TROY SANDI

October 23, 2023 - The APEC Schools New Manila had the honor of visiting Trinity University of Asia (TUA) under the supervision of Ms. Patricia De Guzman Canoy. During the visit, Ms. Canoy, along with APEC students, explored the TUA campus, gaining insights from student guides and facilitators while also witnessing the university's UN event. The warm invitation and hospitality extended by TUA showcased their professionalism in guiding the students throughout the day.

Beyond the delightful sight of the campus and inviting ambiance, the day was enriched with captivating events and activities. The dynamic mood was made better with a parade that included representatives from several countries, exciting intermission performances and fashion presentations, outdoor activities, and diverse cuisine areas. This is only a preview glimpse; why not join us, take a look at our pictures, and let us guide you through this historic day?

The vibrant parade of delegations from several countries was a highlight of the UN event at Trinity University. This spectacle not only exhibited their stunning clothes but also demonstrated their confidence in representing their countries. We excitedly joined them on their trek as the parade toured the entire school campus. The start of the event and its performances was held in Mandel Hall, wherein the following activity was taking place on their stage.

Mr. Italy & Ms. Japan

TUA United Nations Winners

The stage was set for the program's formal debut, which included a heartfelt introduction from the Trinity host, a performance of the Philippine National Anthem, and an anthem-like APEC. The concert opened with a flawless performance that highlighted the outstanding costumes that each competitor was wearing to represent their nation. They showcased their greatest walks in addition to their gripping remarks and national insights. It was the performers' turn to make an impression during the intermission after their fashion show. The intermission performers had an amazing presentation, as shown in the photographs above, and showed off their extraordinary talent. Although this exercise may have gone on longer, time constraints forced us to continue exploring the other buildings and campus areas.

The rest of the tour was enjoyable, as it gave us the chance to take pictures of the remaining structures and investigate the interiors of each building that housed a different course. These comprised tours of facilities like the CHTM (College of Hospitality and Tourism Management), nursing, multimedia, cafeteria, and accounting. When each room opened and we saw firsthand the top-notch learning spaces designed for individual courses, we were astounded. We saw, for example, a fully functional kitchen that is open to HRM students and aspiring chefs, a hotel management simulation room where students can practice their abilities, a bar management course that provides prospective servers and company owners with practical experience in creating drinks, and much more.

Our final stop after seeing TRINITY was the CHTM (College of Hospitality and Tourism Management), where we learned about the great learning opportunities and a variety of courses Trinity offers for our college adventure. We would like to express our appreciation to the kind staff at Trinity who, during the campus tour, demonstrated the outstanding beauty of TRINITY UNIVERSITY OF ASIA with professionalism and good character. We extend our sincere gratitude to Elaine Bernardo, a College of Hospitality and Tourism Management faculty member, who guided us on our final trip and shared her knowledge and skills with us students. Furthermore, we are grateful to Campus and third-year BS Hospitality Management students Jericho Afalla, Cyrill Cabantoc, Rej Totanes, Zacharie Geronimo, and Mike Dealo for their hard work.

Responsible Digital Citizenship in APEC Students: Adherence to our Golden Rule in the Freedom Wall

WRITTEN BY: TRISTAN PAGARIGAN & MOIRA VICTORIA

> Anyone can be a digital citizen. It's your choice to be a responsible digital citizen.

With the Philippines being the so-called social media capital of the Philippines, it is no wonder that Filipinos spend most of their time posting, scrolling, and interacting with other people on the internet, with that said in our interconnected world, where digital platforms shape our daily interactions, the essence of using the internet correctly and responsibly has gained unparalleled significance. In recent months freedom walls have gained popularity among school communities with schools like the University of the Philippines, Ateneo, De LaSalle, University of Santo Thomas, and more importantly, APEC Schools having their own dedicated pages for a freedom wall students were able to interact more with each other, with the appeal to be able to post their thoughts and messages anonymously without being embarrassed, with students being able to ask questions ranging from school queries, sharing their opinions about the school, and sharing their mental health to even confessing to their crushes, updating there love life and so much more, freedom walls are good in theory, but sadly there are times that it is not used responsibly. It is worrying that these kinds of pages are being used for hate speech and sometimes even misinformation, highlighting the pressing need to foster a sense of digital citizenship among the youth to ensure a safer and more respectful online environment.

Freedom Walls, intended to be a platform for open expression and the free exchange of ideas, was established with the noble vision of promoting freedom of speech and aimed to make the student community get together with relatable posts as students of the same school. However, the unregulated environment and the anonymity it provided inadvertently created a breeding ground for cyberbullying, libel, and online harassment, actions that directly undermine the respect that is so central to our school's identity. To give a perspective on how bad it can get, last year the UP Diliman Freedom Walls had this as their pinned post:

> "Hi Friends. It really is so hard moderating this page with your submissions which is one of the reasons why posting of submissions are delayed. Maybe around 90% of your submissions reeks of sexual harassments, or those that are against Facebook's policies (which will get me banned). I asked the admins of DLSU and ADMU's freedom wall to co-moderate with me and after they saw how bad they were, they resigned immediately. PLEASE SUBMIT WITH GOOD INTENT AND WILL IN MIND."

This further proves the necessity of learning how to be a responsible digital citizen. It is essential that students not only understand the potential consequences of their online actions but also actively work towards fostering a culture of respect and responsibility in the digital realm, ensuring a safer and more inclusive online environment for all.

As we strive to be Better Each Day, the APEC community should recognize that true progress entails being responsible and ethical digital citizens. The recent misuse of the Freedom Wall highlights the pressing need for a thoughtful approach to online behavior that aligns with our golden rule of respect. While page administrators hold the power to filter through submissions and moderate content, the choice to allow offensive, harmful, and negative posts to persist is a stark example of the challenges we face in fostering digital citizenship. This situation highlights that mere access to digital platforms needs our mindfulness and self-regulation; we must educate ourselves about the responsible use of these tools and the consequences of our online actions, or "Think before you click."

With the recent APEC Freedom Wall controversy shedding light on the challenges of online interactions within our school community, we, as a school, have an opportunity to transform this unfortunate incident into a valuable learning experience. It is our duty to instill in ourselves the principles of digital citizenship, teaching ourselves how to use the power of online communication responsibly. We must empower them to differentiate between constructive criticism and online harassment, embrace the diversity of thought, and contribute positively to the digital realm.

On the brighter side, among the submissions on the Freedom Wall, there are instances of constructive feedback, thoughtful criticism, and lighthearted contributions that align with our vision of what the Freedom Wall should represent: students who share their relatable experiences with assessments, making small jokes only APEC students could understand as an inside joke, expressing concerns for academic-related things, and whatnot. These positive expressions reflect the values we uphold and the behavior we encourage among our students – a community that respects one another and fosters a culture of empathy and mutual support.

Freedom Walls can become a model for responsible digital expression and communication. By implementing clear guidelines for appropriate content, encouraging self-moderation, and fostering discussions about digital ethics, we can transform it into a platform where students respect one another and engage in meaningful, respectful dialogue while maintaining the comfortable atmosphere a freedom wall should have.

In conclusion, the recent events surrounding the APEC Freedom Wall underscore the importance of digital citizenship in our school community. By aligning our digital behavior with our school's values and mission, we can ensure that our online presence reflects the respect, empathy, and responsibility we uphold. As we strive to be better each day, fostering digital citizenship is a critical step in achieving these goals and preparing our students for a world that values not only freedom of speech but also responsible digital conduct.

DESCENDANTS SHARE THEIR JOURNEY TO POWER DANCE SUCCESS

WRITTEN BY: ZARIEAL MANTE & CLAIRE PITERO

The power dance competition that took place on September 27, 2023, left many in the audience in awe, thanks to the Descendants' impressive skills. The group earned a well-deserved 2nd place finish, showcasing their incredible talents and leaving a lasting impression on viewers.

However, the Descendants' success was not achieved overnight. In a recent interview, the group shared their journey and the obstacles they had to overcome to reach where they are today. They revealed how they practiced tirelessly for weeks on end, putting in countless hours of hard work and dedication.

Their persistent efforts eventually paid off, earning them immense respect from fans and listeners alike.

Although the group admitted to facing difficulties such as synchronization and small arguments, they remained committed to working together to achieve their goals. Despite any issues that arose, the Descendants always stood strong and united.

Their electric stage presence, impeccable timing, and choreography were the highlights of their performance, making it clear that this group was something special. The Descendants' exceptional talent and dedication to their craft earned them legions of new fans and admirers. In fact, they continue to make waves in the world of dance, with their sights set on even greater heights.

The Descendants are proof that hard work, dedication, and perseverance can take you far. Their story is one that inspires and motivates others to never give up on their dreams, no matter how challenging they may seem. As they continue to climb the ladder of success, it's safe to say that this gifted group is set to dazzle audiences for years to come.

APEC STUDENTS IMPRESS ON THE COURT IN HEAD-TO-HEAD MATCH AGAINST NTC

WRITTEN BY: ZARIEAL MANTE & CLAIRE PITERO

As the APEC (New Manila) Students continued to make waves on the dance floor during a power dance competition, another group of talented students took to the court to showcase their skills. William Halili, John Kenneth Mejia, and Jeremiah Martinez led the charge for APEC as they faced off against NTC in an exciting game of basketball on September 27, 2023.

Both teams came out strong and ready to compete, with each player showing off their impressive skills on the court. As the game progressed, it was clear that APEC had some serious talent on their team. Halili, Mejia, and Martinez worked together seamlessly, scoring basket after basket and keeping the pressure on NTC.

Despite APEC's impressive performance, NTC was not to be underestimated. They played a fierce game, matching APEC point for point, and ultimately came out on top with a final score of 79-61. It was a close match, with both teams fighting hard until the very end.

For APEC, the basketball match was a chance to showcase their athletic prowess and prove that they are a force to be reckoned with on the court. Though they may have fallen short this time, their impressive performance was a testament to the hard work and dedication they put into their sport. As for NTC, they can congratulate themselves on a well-deserved victory. The basketball match may have been just one event in a larger competition, but it was certainly one of the most exciting.

Jeremiah Martinez has been named one of the mythical 5 in his latest basketball game, confirming his status as a talented and skilled player. This news comes as no surprise to anyone who has watched him play, as Martinez has consistently impressed on the court with his athleticism, teamwork, and ability to score. As he continues to hone his skills, Martinez will remain a standout player in the basketball world.

YOUNG ENTREPRENEURS OF APEC NEW MANILA

WRITTEN BY: ZARIEAL MANTE & CLAIRE PITERO

Starting a business comes with great risks, responsibility, management skills, patience, and trial and error. In this article, we are featuring young entrepreneurs in Newmanila, their stories of success, and how they have started it all. Bringing inspiration to aspiring business owners.

Starting off with Caireos, a beaded jewelry business managed by Marie Claire Pitero. She has stated

"At first, it was a hobby and my peers told me to sell it so I could make a profit out of it and to gain recognition for my work. I was scared of failing and humiliating myself. I was shy to post my creations online and I chose not to pursue it. After a while, I decided to share my creations with my classmates, and surprisingly enough, they liked it. I started my own Instagram account and posted more of my products reaching a large number of people who were interested in beaded jewelry. I spent a lot of time buying and hand-crafting said charms.

It takes a huge amount of dedication and I am proud to say that it is worth it. It has been four weeks since I started and I encountered people being mean on the internet but that was my motivation to be better. Now, I can say that no matter how old you are, you can make something out of your talent.." This statement of hers shows the risk-taking aspect of being an entrepreneur.

Next up, is Covernails by Justine Claire Pamittan. This was not her first business, she started a clothing brand and soon found out that clothing was not for her, but she did not let that bring her down and soon found the hobby of nail art. She went through trial and error.

She has stated that “Somebody I knew introduced me to a nail kit and it built up interest in me, as the time passed I had saved enough to buy one for myself. After a while, I stopped doing it and soon enough I regained my interest. It took a while to practice nail art on myself and during that time, that's where I realized that I wanted to do this and this was for me. I was scared to work on other people’s hands but I had to take the risk and it came out in the best way possible. Classes started and I decided on Press-on Nails as Prom was approaching. I sold a total of 20 sets or more. I did not settle for self-learning and paid for training to be a certified nail tech. August this year was when I started training. I was the youngest out of all of them and I was the most experienced. Soon enough, I received my certificate.”

PARENT-LF MEETING

WRITTEN BY: CASSANDRA OLIVEROS

A month ago, on October 13, we had our Parent Teacher Conference where our LFs discussed the upcoming activities for Quarter 2 and reminders for their parents and guardians. The topics they discussed were academic updates on the IPBA and OA, Teachers Day, Foundation Day, Little Ms. and Mr., the end of the quarter, Branch Field Trip, the attendance of students and, the concessionaire. The LFs reminded the parents of what tasks needed to be completed and gave them a quick overview of what was to come in Quarter 2.

In Quarter 2 there are many major events happening but to start off simple the third club day will be November 18. So remember to finish up your projects and get ready to see your clubmates. But before that, November 17 will be the release of the Q1 Progress Report, otherwise known as your Report Card, for the people who haven't gotten used to the APEC terms yet. On the same day will be our Literary Day Celebration.

November 20 to 24 will be our Mental Health Awareness Week where we will bring awareness to students' mental health. November 27 will be Bonifacio Day, a national Holiday celebrating Andres Bonifacio, a national hero. He was one of the founders of the secret revolutionary group Katipunan or the shorter version, the KKK.

In December we also have some events besides the Christmas Party and Christmas Break. December 8 is the Immaculate Conception and a non-working holiday with no classes. December 9 will be our fourth club day and on the 15th will be APEC New Manila's Field Trip to Shercon Resort and Ecology Park. December 20 will be the Student Christmas Party and 21 will be the Start of Christmas Break.

THE CONCESSIONAIRE

WRITTEN BY: EPHRAIM SANCHEZ

As Quarter 1 comes to an end, it has shown the hard work and dedication of both the students and the learning facilitator. Being able to do good in such aspects, it is a requirement that we are able to consume food and drinks that help the body recover quickly. That's why we show our utmost gratitude to our concessionaire team for serving us quality and affordable goods.

We interviewed Mr. June, one of the owners of BKN Food Service, who has been in the business for around 6 years where they serve both catering and school concessionaires. We wanted to get his opinion on how APEC SCHOOLS operate, the students within it, and details about their menu and pricing.

"The way APEC teaches is different, it is more practical compared to other schools preparing them for their collegiate years." Said by Him Mr. June is able to say so having children that also study in the school, "it focuses on practical learning" he added. Along with that he also shared that students who buy in the concessionaire show a positive attitude, and reflect on the values that the learning facilitators and the school are teaching.

Mr June Believes what they serve is quality for its pricing. Every month their team creates a meal plan composed of different kinds of food in a month, including meat and vegetables among others. It's also a main concern for them how healthy the food is but also being able to enjoy consuming it. "Compared to other concessionaires, our's is affordable," Said Mr June. He explained that the food served is from catering services and is guaranteed to be of taste to the students.

For anyone interested in ordering their services, whether it's for a birthday party, debut, or any kind of special occasion they are available through their contacts. They serve healthy and affordable packed meals, party trays, and catering services. You can call/text them on their phone number 0932 722 8836 or email them at kerbyshomecooking@gmail.com to contact and experience their top-notch services.

BATA, BATA, BAT KA NAGNGANGANGAWA?

WRITTEN BY: EOWYN NATIVIDAD

Dabog at pasaring ang nadatnan ng ina
Nang di pagbigyan ang gustong bagong selpon ng bata
Naisip niyang isama sa mga pamilihan at makita
Ang tunay na sitwasyon ng ating bansa

Nagulat ang bata sa taas ng presyo ng mga produkto
Mga lulutuin, babaunin at mga panlinis lang sasakto
Ipinaliwanag ng ina ang implasyon ay may malaking epekto
Para mabili ang mga pangangailangan na sapat at hindi perpekto

Napaluha ang bata at nahiya sa kanyang naging asal sa bahay
Habang nagbibilang ang ina ng mga barya para sa dyip na inaantay
Nagulat ang ina na nagtaas na pala ang pamasahe sa sakay
Nagkamot ng ulo ang drayber at sinabi ang pagtaas ng presyo ng langis na walang humpay

Pagdating sa bahay ay mahigpit na hinagkan ng bata ang ina at agad humingi ng paumanhin
Sinabing hindi na niya kailangan ang bagong selpon at ibinahagi ang kanyang bagong mithiin
Dadamayan niya ang kanyang ina para pagkasyahin ang badyet at ang kanyang pag-aaral ay kanyang pagsisikapin
Pag-iimpok at wastong paggastos ang kanyang paiiralin

LITERARY

WRITTEN BY: ARWEN TOLOSA

The guitars strum and the drums bang
"Jang, jang, jang" "Boom, boom, boom"
Standing up for what is right
Fighting for the voiceless

As the melody sings in their ears
They suddenly felt infinite
Who knew such simple harmonies
Can cause many to be devoid of fear

The fingers dancing along with the strings
Making music to their ears
The weight of the world falling off their shoulders

The crowd's hearts marching to the beat of the drum
Knowing their voices are finally heard
They have found the path for life
For the music is the moonlight guide in the dark of the night

The band is who leads the parade
Letting the lyrics advocate for everyone's rights
No matter what danger it brings
They won't let the evil turn the volume down

With every note and every lyric
The gaps between each soul is bridged
So on and on, the band marches on
